Defendants cited in redistricting suit

Gex given approval to represent spvrs.

Lucien M. Gex will continue as attorney for the board of supervisors in the redistricting case against it which has been pending since last September in U.S. District Court at Biloxi.

So decided the supervisors Monday on the advice of their current counsel, Foye and Griffin, after clarification of the point was sought in a defense motion filed with the court.

Supervisors however voted to lay aside until the case is concluded a $750 bill from Gex for services in the case. The motion not to approve bill was by Delph Kellar of Beat 2, seconded by Charles Lovinghouse of Beat 3. Gex was requested to represent the board last September when he was its regular counsel.

R.G. Hubbard, Jr., supervisor from populous Beat 5 which covers Bay St. Louis and Waveland, advocated leaving settlement of the redistricting question up to the court. He observed the county had already spent $2,500 fighting a redistricting order in the state courts three years ago.

Kellar argued the board should hire a lawyer "for the benefit of the county." He observed that the judges might not recognize the board if it went before them without counsel. Lovinghouse added that with a lawyer the supervisors might not be found guilty of the charges. Jack Lott of Beat 4 took the view that since the county would lose the bill, they might as well have an attorney. Kellar said Gex had been as good as giving an estimate of the cost of handling the case since it might go as far as the U.S. Supreme Court. In the earlier case Gex failed to file any brief before the supreme court and was criticized by the court for doing so. (Cont. on Page 5.)

Interest up on school bond sale

The county school system's $350,000 construction bond issue was sold Monday to Leland Speed Co. of Jackson at an average interest rate of 4.58125 per cent over the 35-year period. Speed was low among three firms bidding before the board of supervisors. The Mississippi Investment Company through Hancock Bank had bought the bonds last September at 3.68215 per cent but asked last month to be relieved of that contract since the bonds had not been delivered in the specified 60 days.

The higher interest rate is estimated to cost about $25,000 more over the term of the issue. A Speed representative explained that the bond market this week is at its highest all-time high. At least part of this is attributed to the rise in interest rates by the Federal Reserve Board. Because of the current interest level, supervisors agreed to amend their resolution for sale of the $1,750,000 port and harbor bond issue to make it callable. Ruble Griffin, the supervisors' attorney, recommended this procedure because of the high price for the bonds. (Cont. on Page 5.)

JACKSON M. BALCH

Balch to address mass meet. MAC chief backs airport aid bid

Jackson M. Balch, manager of National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Mississippi Test Facility at Gulfport, will explain the relationship of the site to the county and community at a mass public meeting scheduled for 8 p. m. on Monday, March 21, in the gymnasium of Bay Vista School.

Accompanied by his top administrative team, who will be introduced at that time, Balch will further outline the operational concepts of the site, its current status and its future. Although born in Canada, Balch is a native of Huntville, Ala., and will illustrate his topic by comparing this area with that city which grew from a population of 11,000 in 1941 to its present size of 140,000 persons. This growth was largely due to the space industry and the work of civic minded citizens after the commencement of construction on the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center.

The mass meeting idea got its start at a recent Chamber of Commerce session when it was proposed by Leo Seal, Jr., president of Hancock Bank. Since that time a committee (Cont. on Page 5.)

Hancock County's request for federal aid and approval of its proposed airport site just north of Interstate 10 near Kiln has been certified by the Mississippi Aeronautics Commission and forwarded to the Federal Aviation Agency for action. C.A. Moore, MAC director, wrote the FAA urging "expeditious and priority treatment" for the application "due to the urgent requirements of NASA's Mississippi Test Facility for the proposed airport facility." Construction should start during the 1966 season to meet the demands, he noted. The letter was directed to Kenneth Barfield, the FAA's chief of airport service in Mississippi. He noted that the county has allocated $750,000 toward the airport and inquired what further information is needed for justification of FAA aid.

Under the airport development formula prepared by Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., consulting engineer for the county port and harbor commission, a

$578,700 grant is anticipated from FAA toward the $1.5 million project. The county's share is figured at $740,000. Estimated for the airport is $750,000 from the $1,750,000 port and harbor bond issue. (Cont. on Page 5.)

Visit Mississippi first Gov. Johnson urges

Gov. Paul Johnson and Mississippi's Agricultural and Industrial Board have come up with a new twist to the Buy in Mississippi. It's vacation in Mississippi and it makes sense aside from the patriotic.

From Grecian ruins to petrified forests, from the Riviera-like Gulf Coast to Vicksburg's memories Mississippi has a variety of interests to offer. (The governor didn't mention gambling on the coast.) We wouldn't go so far as to urge each and everyone or you to follow the example of the state legislator who last year travelled over 2,000 miles through Mississippi in his two weeks of vacation. We'd rather do it slower and only travel 1,000 miles in the same time—it would give us another year. You're not likely to know your country unless you first know your area and your office. Find out about Mississippi this year and leave China for your grandchildren.

Pearlington Breland appointed

E. Breland, a former superintendent of education in Pearl River, La., was named principal of the Pearl River School for 1966-67 when the board of education met Monday night to elect its staff for the coming school year. Breland will succeed Roy H. Hinch, who has been at Logansport, La., for two years. He has been at the Chalmers, La., school since 1960 when his superintendent expired.

mentary principals and the superintendent at Hancock North Central School was recommended by County Superintendent Robert F. Lott. Trustees unanimously confirmed their selection.

Charles Blalock, who joined the staff at HNC last summer, was a two-year extension of his contract with a $200 pay increase, bringing his salary up to the system's maximum—$7,000. Ora Seal was named for another year at Gulfview School and Leonard Fuller at North Central, both at the same pay.

The vote on all four was 4-0. Only Roy Barker, Jr., Beat 1 member, was absent. President E.P. Orris said Barker's mother was ill.

Election of the staff at Logansport-Pearlington was deferred until the next principal can be consulted. Lott said he hoped the list would be ready for the next board meeting.

Named at Gulfview on Seal's recommendation were Little B. Hart, first grade; Gaynell Blalock, second; Nora Fuzze, third; Margaret Varnell, fourth; Laurin Leane, fifth; Herman Price, coach and clerk; and Oscar Breland, seventh. Seal will join them in teaching also the eighth grade.

Mrs. Melissa Soufflet was re-elected lunchroom manager with Mrs. Monroe Garcia and Mrs. Elmer Lottner, helpers.

Elected to the elementary staff at North Central were Leta Evans, first; Myrtle Soufflet, second; Alfrida Lottner, Virginia Carol Paula, both third; Sue Ann Oshbourne, Myrdale Lottner, both fourth; Dick Thigpen, fifth; Elvin Lee and Trillighe Cuevas, both sixth. ## May alter form in hospital probe

By a 3-2 vote, the board of supervisors Monday declined to schedule the order for an investigation of the current situation regarding Hancock General Hospital. Lott, in doubt, however, was the method by which supervisors would undertake the inquiry.

R.G. Hubbard, Jr., Beat 5 member and board president, reported the county attorney, general's office had advised county funds could not be used in such a probe. There were indications the supervisors and hospital trustees would negotiate Wednesday night toward settling an inquiry by a party acceptable to both with the hospital placing up the tab, as suggested by Administrator Thomas O. Logans.

Hubbard was joined by Delph Kellar of Beat 2 and Jack Lott of Beat 4 in voting against the motion authored by H.G. Dean of Beat 1 to rescind the order to investigate until Dean could back him the motion. Charles Lovinghouse, Beat 3 supervisor and a past president of the hospital board, seconded Dean's motion.

The decision on how to proceed with the inquiry was postponed by the supervisors' vote until the hospital trustees met in Memphis, Tenn., with log trouble. After Hubbard reviewed developments of recent weeks in the hospital case, Dean carried their position supporting an inquiry from the Joyce and American Legion would go to the hospital trustees, not the supervisors. He declared full confidence in his area's two members—Joseph K. Dierckx, trustee president, and Mrs. T.P. Ward, one of two county members at large.

The hospital question did not come up until after noon Monday and a sizeable group of interested persons who appeared in the morning returned to hear the afternoon deliberations. Dean compared the hospital process with the situation of the school in Pearlington and opposed Hubbard's suggestion (Cont. on Page 5.)

for state finals

Hawks fly north

It's the greatest. The Hawks, coached by Roland Lott, won the state championship game. The team consists of: Roland Lott, Coach; Kenny Smith, Paul Cuevas, and Wendell Lott. (Photo by John E. Brown.)

HNC placed three on the all-state 12-man A-team, Wendell Lottner, Paul Cuevas and Kenny Randall. Although watched and guarded like the hawk he is, the big team from Hancock County consistently overcame the best guards in the state to score 36 points in the opening round on Friday, 30 in the semi-final and 42 in the final on Saturday. His total was 110 for a 37-point per game average. His career average is 37.5.

To quote the Jackson Daily News: "And without a doubt, the majority of the outstanding 3,000 spectators came just to see the greatest player in action, and Mr. 'The-Great' Lottner really ran on a star." Wendell Lottner is the star.

Now all coach Roland Lott has to do is get out of their class and beat the state's AA champs, Tupelo, in the opening round of the state overall championship tournament in the College at Jackson. Game time is 6:30 p.m.

on Friday with the final championship match slated for 9 p. m. Saturday. Other teams in this tournament are the BB champs, Polkville, and the B champions, New Site.

Wendell plays his best when the going gets rough and it's going to be plenty rough against Tupelo which also boasts an amazing guard, the best power Johnny Guyana. The Gold Woves have played through all the top AA teams in the state with little trouble.

Winner of this tourney will crowd out on the state's top team among approximately 50 high schools in Mississippi, regardless of class.

Thirty-one of the state's top boys' teams took their way to the various state championships last weekend and only four survived. North Central, Tupelo, Polkville and New Site. When the smoke of battle cleared Saturday night only one will remain, the undefeated Hawks. Of all the boys' teams from south Mississippi in various classes, only Hancock North Central has survived. Although the Hawks count like a one-man team, many teams have used double and sometimes triple coverage on Wendell only to find out too late that coach Lottner has at least seven other players who can step in and fill the gap almost on a dime.

Wendell Lottner, Kenny Randall, Paul Cuevas, Kenny Hoda, Jerry Smith, Clark Smith and James Lottner are each capable of blowing any game city high. Randall, who calls the signals, is also a good guard in the state. He is a 6-foot-2 guard who is a good shooter. He has scored 10 points in the state tournament and has scored 23 points and 201 rebounds.

Hoda has played only about half the games but has scored 100 points and 122 rebounds. Wendell usually plays only about three quarters of each game but has 204 rebounds and 204 points. Cuevas has 234 points and 146 rebounds and sometimes comes up with a 20-point effort as when James Lottner who has 176 points and 42 rebounds. Jerry Smith has accounted for 225 points and 93 rebounds while Clark Smith has 121 points and 69 rebounds.

These four players usually play less than two quarters of playing time per game so each would have to more than double their season's totals to realize their potential for a full game.

In the final Saturday game, West Louisiana the Hawks will play at 42 points. He has eight out of eight free throws, 17 or 27 from the field and grabbed 16 rebounds, although he has not yet played through and out of the game.

South beats North

After receiving more votes for the all-star team than any other girl in the conference, Marilyn Price was voted to lead the South All-Stars to a 31-17 victory over the North All-Stars in a football game.

Donny Price was the only other local girl to make the all-star conference squad. Marilyn reached up 11 points, Dorcas Williams, of Wiggins, 9; and Cynthia Bernard, of Ocean Springs, 8, in Friday's game.

Coach Willie Barclay predicted that the South team would win the North All-Stars, 31-17. Marilyn Price, of St. Rose, was high scorer with 22 points followed by Cynthia Bernard, of Ocean Springs, with 20 each.

Eddie Lee McCarty of VJ got credit for outstanding defensive effort of the game. Making the conference all-star squad from VJ were McCarty, a junior, Robert Williams, junior, and Larry Peters, a 6-1, 180-pound freshman who has been selected to the all-star team three consecutive years. He joined the varsity as a co-captain. Barclay said Peters to definitely a college prospect.

St. Rose de Lima placed Maurice Sims on the all-star squad.

Games 'piped' to Kiln, rooster given acclaim

Anybody looking for anybody else in the north part of Hancock County last weekend was plumb out of luck unless they happened to be near Melva's Place in Kiln.

Estimated at around 600 people, with just about as many vehicles, the crowd was on hand to listen to a specially piped-in broadcast of the Hancock North Central School's Hawk game being played at Forest Hills Stadium M. Bailey Coliseum near Jackson.

Close to 1,000 county residents were at the games and an even greater number are reported heading in that direction this weekend when the Hawks will try for state honors.

The broadcast, sponsored by Hancock Bank, Melva's Place, Oscar Peterson's Grocery, Martin's Grocery, Whitfield Furniture Store and L. and J. Barber Shop, was relayed via rented telephone lines from station WRWW in Piquette. A repeat relay is scheduled this Friday and Saturday although a full list of sponsoring companies is not yet known. So far Merchants Bank and Melva's have committed themselves and more sponsors are expected to follow.

Loudspeakers, as was the case last week, will be situated both inside and outside the main building and persons will be able to hear the programs from their cars.

In a second item of interest related to the northern contest being battled out by the Hawks, Alton Lumpkin of Lenoir, is receiving high praise from coaches for the wonderful cheerleading job performed at Jackson last weekend.

CHARGED IN AUTO DEATH

A Bay St. Louis man, Richard Burns, 40, was reportedly charged by New Orleans police on charges of negligent homicide following a two-car accident at 6 p.m. Friday, March 5, on Highway 90 near Chief Murren bridge. ## ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Proclamation

NOW WHEREFORE:

The time is drawing nigh and preparations are well underway for a day of good Irish fun.

AND WHEREAS:

A petition has been made and honored for Waveland's Irish to hold a parade in honor of their Patron Saint.

NOW THEREFORE:

I Garfield Lohmar, Mayor of the Town of Waveland, do hereby proclaim Saturday, March 12, 1966, as St. Patrick's Day. And do proclaim that all friends of the Irish gather together in Waveland at 2 p.m., wear the green and enjoy the O' before their name to help recall the realm of the few and faithful Irish.

GARFIELD O'LOMAR
Mayor

The above Proclamation and invitation is not extended to Jupiter Pluvius.

Aeronautics group to dine at test site

A tour of Mississippi Test Facility, a dinner and an illustrated presentation by Harry F. Auter, deputy manager of MTF, will be high-lights of a special meeting at the facility Monday evening of 200 members of the Greater New Orleans Section of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

Members of the AIAA, applicants and individuals interested in membership who are employed at MTF have been invited to participate in the event.

George H. Ward, manager-program for the General Electric Mississippi Test Support Department, is coordinator.

Jackson M. Balch, NASA manager of MTF, will greet the AIAA group during dinner in the main cafeteria beginning at 6 p.m.

Auter's presentation in the Central Control Building auditorium will deal with the unique facilities and procedures in use at MTF, engineering challenges of its activation and operation and a look at the future of the test facility as a proving ground for space vehicle components.

Airforce sergeant saves boy's life

A marshmallow toasting barbecue turned into a flaming holocaust one day last summer when one of the boys threw model airplane fuel onto the coals.

Staff Sgt. Richard E. Tomlinson, native of Bay St. Louis, stationed with 285th Test Squadron, USAF, in Olmsted AFB, Pa., saw Joseph Lewis, 10, one of the party, running down the railroad tracks near Middletown, Pa., with his clothing on fire. Not stopping to ask any questions Tomlinson tackled the terror filled boy and rolled him into the grass to extinguish the flames.

Walking the boy back to his house Tomlinson laid him on the floor and kept him calm until medical assistance arrived. In the Harrisburg hospital Lewis was found to have suffered second and third degree burns over 35 per cent of his body. Hospitalized until late October the boy underwent two skin grafts on his arms and chest.

Sergeant Tomlinson, who suffered cuts and bruises in the affair, has been recommended for the Airman's Medal for his prompt and heroic action.

Married to the former Clara Puchau of Bay St. Louis the couple has two children, Richard, 9, and Claire, 7.

Well, better late than never, your very own brand new Teen Times leaflet is now being distributed by Mr. Jones to the boys and girls of you will get on the half and contribute news to the column. For the past few weeks, completely no one has been in as much as a line. All news has been dropped up the hard way, so once again we'll repeat the fact that we haven't time to read around for items, so if you want the teen age bit to continue, you'll have to come across with some assistance.

Bay High band's pop concert held in the school auditorium last Tuesday night attracted an enthusiastic audience. Two former students, Karen Williams and Paula Crider, both majoring in music at the University of Southern Mississippi, were guest conductors. Owen Williams, who just happened to be K. Jones' puppy, did some with the band on the other selection. (Cont. on Page 8-B)

Bay theater reschedules '65 finale

The Bay St. Louis Little Theater is making another attempt to present its final play of the 1965 season, Light Up the Sky for March 31, April 1 and 2. The production was delayed last fall because of the hurricane and earlier this year because of city curfew.

The cast includes Diana McWhorter, Andrea Armstrong, Chuck LeCroy, Emma May, Warren Nybo, Betty Watson, Paul Chapman, Frances Frawley and Jack Campbell. Dick Chapman is technical director and Bert Barren is director.

The Macbeth comedy which was a Broadway hit is about show people opening a new play in Boston by an unknown writer and his prospects of success. The locale is a Boston hotel room.

Curtain time is 8:15 a.m. and tickets may be obtained at the door. The 1965 membership are good for admission.
